Reflection: Book 4 Chapter 8 On the Offering of Christ on the Cross, and the Resignation of Ourselves: "CHRIST: With arms outstretched upon the cross, I hung stripped and naked, with nothing remaining in Me which was not turned into a complete sacrifice; I willingly offered Myself to God the Father, to appease the divine wrath and to satisfy for your sins. Should you not willingly, therefore, daily offer yourself to Me in the Mass, with all the strength and the devotion of your heart, as a pure and holy oblation? I ask nothing more of you than this: your efforts to surrender yourself wholly to Me. I care for nothing else that you can give besides yourself; for it is not your gift but you that I seek. 2. Since it would not satisfy you if you had everything but Me, so neither am I pleased with anything you give if you do not offer Me yourself. Give yourself to Me—your entire self to your God—and your offering will be accepted. See how I offered Myself wholly to the Father for you; I gave My Body and Blood to be your food, that I might be all yours, and you completely Mine. But if you rely on yourself and will not offer yourself freely to My will, your offering is incomplete, and a perfect union will not exist between us. Before all else, you must make a willing offering of yourself into God's hands, if you wish to obtain grace and freedom. The reason why so few are inwardly free and enlightened is because so few give themselves completely. My words are unchanged: "Anyone of you who does not renounce all of his possessions cannot be My disciple" (Lk 14:33). Therefore, if you wish to be My disciple, offer up yourself to Me with all your affections."
